THE VIENNA JOHANN STRAUSS ORCHESTRA AT THE GOLDEN HALL OF THE MUSIKVEREIN VIENNA.

VIENNA JOHANN STRAUSS ORCHESTRA

The Vienna Johann Strauss Orchestra can rightly claim to be one of the most authentic ensembles for the interpretation of Strauss's oeuvre. In 1966, almost 120 years after the Strauss Orchestra was founded by Johann Strauss I, the great demand for sophisticated light music prompted a group of Viennese musicians to found the Vienna Johann Strauss Orchestra. The ensemble's main objective is and was to cultivate the music of the Strauss dynasty and so-called "light" Viennese music. The Vienna Johann Strauss Orchestra uses the same 42 instruments traditionally preferred by the Strauss family, according to authentic accounts by direct family descendants.

After the untimely death of Eduard Strauss II in 1969, the last professional representative of the Strauss dynasty and at the same time the orchestra's first conductor, the ensemble was led by Willi Boskovsky, a man whose name is more closely associated with the tradition of New Year's concerts than any other. Under Boskovsky, a lively recording and touring activity set in which continues to this day. Since its foundation, the orchestra has toured in over 33 countries on three continents acquainting people all around the globe with the music of the Strauss family in more than 1300 concerts. The ensemble has regularly been performing in the Golden Hall of the Vienna Musikverein since 1981 where it has its own concert cycle since 1999. The orchestra has enjoyed many years of intensive artistic collaboration with the two proven Strauss specialists and conductors Johannes Wildner and Alfred Eschwé.
